Essential Tools & Resources for You

MSL “Quik-Box” MovePlan System (Pg. 12)

Move Solutions’ systematic approach, using labeled cardboard boxes combined with their project management framework, orchestrates every aspect of your move from planning through move day.

How to use: Contact Move Solutions to request your set of Quik-Box containers for your move. Work with Move Solutions to customize the system for your specific move requirements, timeline, and logistics. The boxes are provided for packing, with numbered labels for easy identification and tracking.

When to use: Throughout entire move timeline for coordination and tracking

Stack & Pack Crate Process (Pg. 13)

The red crate system completely transformed office moving. Move Solutions invented this no-lift crate methodology to eliminate the physical strain and damage risks associated with traditional cardboard boxes.

How to use: Follow the proprietary step-by-step packing methodology that allows items to be placed in lightweight, reusable plastic crates without heavy lifting.

When to use: Begin 2-3 weeks before move day during employee training phase.

Lead-Time Calculator (Pg. 14)

Interactive planning tool that calculates optimal project start dates by working backwards from your desired move date. This tool shows every week of the year and determines when you should begin planning based on move complexity.

How to use: Find your target move date in the weekly calendar and reference the corresponding start dates for different project complexities (12, 16, 20, or 24 weeks of lead time).

When to use: During initial Move Planning to establish realistic timelines and ensure adequate preparation time

Educational Planning Videos (Pg. 15)

Professional explainer videos designed to help you and your team create an organized, efficient move by understanding proper procedures and expectations. These comprehensive training materials cover packing techniques, labeling systems, safety protocols, and move day logistics.

How to use: Share with all employees 2-3 weeks before move to ensure everyone understands their responsibilities and the overall process. Use during team meetings or distribute for individual viewing to reinforce training sessions and provide visual guidance on proper packing and preparation techniques.

When to use: During “Assign Roles & Train Teams” phase (6 weeks before move)

Additional Tip:

Engage department leaders early to gather input on workspace needs and pain points. Their insights will help guide layout, technology, and furniture decisions that support productivity in your new space.

16–18 Weeks Before Move

Finalize Site & Space Planning

Site Selection & Contracting

Confirm the chosen location and complete all necessary contract documents to secure the space.

Communication

Notify origin and destination property management of move dates, elevators, and entry/exit needs.

Develop Spatial Plan

Collaborate with the architect/interior design firm to finalize the layout and associated construction documents.

With your new location secured, it's time to refine the details. Clear communication with property management and close collaboration with your design team ensures your space plan supports both function and future growth. This phase locks in the framework that will guide construction and move logistics.

Additional Tip:

Request preliminary construction timelines from your contractor. Aligning these dates early helps prevent delays and ensures your MovePlan and build-out stay in sync.

13-15 Weeks Before Move

Additional Tip:

Create a detailed inventory of assets marked for liquidation, donation, or relocation. This helps vendors coordinate pickups efficiently and ensures nothing is overlooked in the transition.

The final week is all about preparation and confirmation. Review packing materials, confirm elevator access, and walk through the facility punch list. Coordinators and project managers align responsibilities, signage, and labels to ensure everyone is ready for a seamless move-in.

Additional Tip:

Photograph posted signage and share it with coordinators in advance. This helps employees quickly understand label colors and directional guidance on move day.

Move Day Execution Day

- Take a Breath
Pause, exhale, and prepare for a focused and productive move day.
- Inspect Facilities
Walk through origin and destination spaces with Move Solutions to document any pre-existing damage.

Move day is the culmination of weeks of planning and coordination. With coordinators stationed, signage posted, and every detail aligned, the focus shifts to execution. Flexibility and teamwork ensure that challenges are solved quickly and the transition stays on track.

Additional Tip:

Keep a central communication channel open (like a group chat or command center) so coordinators and suppliers can report updates or issues in real time.

Move Day + 1 Settling In & Adjustments

- Make Workspace Adjustments
Work with Move Solutions “smooth set” crew to fine-tune furniture, layouts, and setups so employees feel comfortable in their new surroundings.
- Document Damages
Create a list of any damages to company assets or facilities, and provide detailed reports to the appropriate suppliers for resolution.

The day after the move is about fine-tuning. With the help of Move Solutions’ “smooth set” crew, adjustments can be made to ensure employees are comfortable in their new environment. At the same time, document any damages for quick resolution with suppliers.

Additional Tip:

Encourage employees to share feedback on their new workspaces. Early input helps identify small changes that improve comfort and productivity.

Move Day Through Two Weeks

Wrap-Up & Decommissioning

- Decommission Origin Space
Clear and restore the previous office space to meet lease requirements.
- Liquidate Old Furniture
Work with Office Furniture Plus to remove and repurpose unneeded furniture efficiently.

After the move, attention turns to closing out your old location. Decommissioning the origin space and liquidating unneeded furniture ensures compliance with lease agreements and reduces costs. This phase finalizes the transition and allows your team to focus fully on the new workspace.

Additional Tip:

Schedule liquidation and decommissioning services early to avoid penalties for delays and to maximize the resale or recycling value of old furniture.

Detailed Proposal Within Two Weeks:

We deliver preliminary numbers quickly. You can even request them three months in advance, if necessary. This is inspired by our ongoing commitment to planning and transparency.

Whether it's lease expirations or rapid decommissions, our agility is unmatched. We adapt by leveraging our OMA partnership for quick-turn projects and inflexible budgets.

Execution with Precision:

Every move is managed by our seasoned project managers with an eye for detail, supported by our OMA partners, and includes a tailored strategy. Our approach is not one-size-fits-all.

CASE STUDY 1

Delivering Adaptability to Keep Up with Enterprise Growth

Challenge

An international financial planning group with 70+ global locations had a need for relocation services as they expanded or consolidated facilities. This would include relocating furniture and electronics, as well as leaving vacated offices in preleased conditions.

Solution

Move Solutions' strategy includes their OMA network for regional support, site visits for bringing a space to pre-lease conditions, and detailed MovePlans. The team also provided packing materials, containers for purging excess product, furniture installation, and more.

Outcome

Not only have we met every moving challenge, we've also helped this 15-year client meet Green Initiative Metrics, which are intended to minimize the effect of disposed products on landfills. This has included repurposing furniture through donations, reselling, and recycling.

Solution

One relocation within Washington, D.C. included connecting with a local OMA resource and decommissioning leftover furniture. Phase 1 meant moving furniture, files, artwork, and computers. Phase 2 meant disposing of 8 truckloads of unwanted furniture and materials.

Outcome

The team has successfully supported moves in 55 locations and four countries. Recent success stories have included Vancouver, Chicago, and Arlington, VA. The client continues to rely on Move Solutions' seasoned professionals, detailed planning, and thorough execution.
